

GVIAS Conduct Committee - Confidentiality Agreement

Print Name _____

The protection of confidential information both past and present is vital and necessary to the interests and success of the Greater Vancouver Interactive Arts Society Conduct Committee. Confidential information includes, but is not limited:

- All personal staff or volunteer information
- All written and oral information provided by a GVIAS member or any other individual who has attended a GVIAS event if told to a conduct committee members as part of their investigation into an incident or breach of the Code of Conduct
- Other information and data communicated as confidential and gathered during an investigation

This confidentiality policy is compatible with and in accordance with the Society Act and the Society's Bylaws. If you are uncertain about whether information is confidential, check with the board president or conduct committee liaison or another authorized source before discussing it with anyone. All conduct committee members are required to adhere to this policy. Improper use or disclosure of confidential information may result in disciplinary action, up to and including a proposal of special resolution to remove the committee member from GVIAS membership and/or appropriate legal action. I acknowledge the policy regarding confidentiality and agree to abide by and understand the consequences of improper use or disclosure of confidential information.

Date

Signature